Panelists will discuss key issues that remain of significant concern for the disability community 30 years after the ADA's passage, and offer thoughts on what the future holds for ADA implementation in these areas. The briefing focuses on the intersection of disability and racial equity, and the aim of ensuring that the ADA's goals of full participation, equal opportunity, independent living and economic self-sufficiency can become a reality for all people with disabilities including Black, Indigenous and People of Color.

Welcoming remarks: Heather Ansley, Associate Executive Director of Government Relations, Paralyzed Veterans of America and Chair, CCD

Moderator: Liz Weintraub, Senior Advocacy Specialist, Association of University Centers on Disabilities

Panelists:

- Vanita Gupta, President and CEO, The Leadership Conference on Civil and Human Rights
- Germán Parodi, Co-Executive Director, Partnership for Inclusive Disaster Strategies
- Maria Town, CEO, American Association of People with Disabilities
- Monique Dixon, Deputy Director of Policy and Director of State Advocacy, NAACP Legal Defense Fund

Presented in collaboration with Reps. Jim Langevin (D-RI) and Don Young (R-AK), co-chairs of the House Bipartisan Disabilities caucus, Rep. Steny Hoyer (D-MD), House Majority Leader, Rep. Ayanna Pressley (D-MA), Senator Bob Casey (D-PA) Ranking Member of the Senate Special Committee on Aging, Senator Tammy Duckworth (D-IL), and Senator Chris Van Hollen (D-MD), Ranking Member of the Senate Banking Committee's Subcommittee on Securities, Insurance, and Investment.
