

CONSORTIUM FOR CITIZENS WITH DISABILITIES

“The Consortium for Citizens with Disabilities is relieved and pleased that the House of Representatives cancelled the vote on the American Health Care Act,” said Kim Musheno, CCD Chair. “This bill would have resulted in millions of people with disabilities losing access to comprehensive, affordable and accessible health care, as well as critical Medicaid services that help them live and participate in the community. CCD looks forward to working with Congress to make the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act stronger. Cutting and capping Medicaid is not the right move to reforming health care. CCD will work to ensure that Medicaid remains as a viable option to provide health care and vital long term services and supports to people with disabilities.” “The Consortium for Citizens with Disabilities is relieved and pleased that the House of Representatives cancelled the vote on the American Health Care Act,” said Kim Musheno, CCD Chair. “This bill would have resulted in millions of people with disabilities losing access to comprehensive, affordable and accessible health care, as well as critical Medicaid services that help them live and participate in the community. CCD looks forward to working with Congress to make the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act stronger. Cutting and capping Medicaid is not the right move to reforming health care. CCD will work to ensure that Medicaid remains as a viable option to provide health care and vital long term services and supports to people with disabilities.”