Consortium for Constituents with Disabilities Developmental Disabilities, Autism, and Family Support & Health Task Forces Position on Vaccine Misinformation Surrounding Autism and Other Developmental Disabilities

The Consortium for Constituents with Disabilities Developmental Disabilities, Autism, and Family Support Task Force and Health Task Force issue the following as official Task Force policy:

We reaffirm that vaccines and their ingredients do not cause autism and other developmental disabilities. We remain committed to following the established scientific and medical consensus.

The Consortium for Constituents with Disabilities (CCD) is the largest coalition of national organizations working together to advocate for Federal public policy that ensures the self-determination, independence, empowerment, integration and inclusion of children and adults with disabilities in all aspects of society free from racism, ableism, sexism, and xenophobia, as well as LGBTQ+ based discrimination and religious intolerance.
